

How to Add A Bleed?

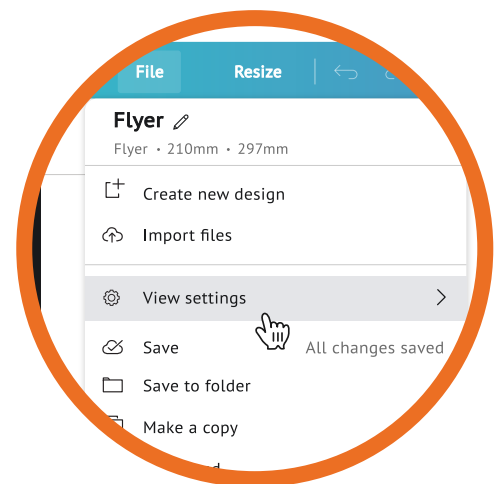

IN CANVA

Start by either making a new design or opening an existing one.

Go to the menu bar and click on "File," then choose "View settings."

Click the option to "Show print bleed." This will display dashed lines near the edges of your design, representing the bleed margin. Please note that this margin is fixed according to print production standards and cannot be changed.

If you notice any elements going right up to, but not over the edge of the dashed line, resize the elements so they go over the dashed line. The printer will cut off the edges and create a nice, smooth edge-to-edge print.
